

Get holistic space support with Workspring Meeting Experiences.

Workspring Meeting Experiences are designed to enhance focus, inspire creativity, and nurture meaningful relationships. We transform standard meeting rooms into comfortable, engaging environments that encourage listening, learning, and collaboration.

Workspring does not replace a great meeting planner or hotel event staff. We design thoughtful workspaces that support meeting goals. We also manage delivery, installation, arrangement, and tear-down of these spaces.

Engage Workspring Meeting Experiences to:

- Keep participants focused and engaged.
- Make it easy to step out and quickly step back in.
- Get people to connect—talk, relate, move forward.
- Show your guests that the event is important and that they are valued participants.

general sessions

Picture the typical conference setting. Do linen-covered tables come to mind? Work styles, design sensibilities, and technologies have all progressed. It's time to push space forward too, accommodating new ways of working, communicating, and learning. Intimate spaces with a range of posture choices keep people focused and engaged.

pre-function

Often underutilized, the pre-function areas adjacent to general meeting sessions can help build excitement, encourage interaction, and foster meaningful relationships. Magnetic touchdown seating areas draw a crowd, leading to longer conversations, higher quality time together, and more strategically valuable outcomes.

breakout sessions

The real work at conferences often happens in small breakout sessions that encourage interaction and conversation. Informed by research on how people learn, communicate, and use technology to share information and solve complex problems, our breakout spaces help individuals and teams do their best work.

Forge uncommon connections with Workspring on the Road.

The way we work is rapidly changing. To address this shift, Steelcase Inc., the global leader in workspace knowledge, created Workspring, a high performance network of alternative work spaces for individuals and teams. With several locations nationwide, Workspring motivates, connects, and inspires individuals and teams to do their best work ever.

Workspring on the Road brings this same highly hosted, insight-driven experience to your next meeting or conference.

Attendees often need to step out of general sessions to take a call, conduct an interview, engage in casual networking or recharge after a long flight. Unfortunately, this usually means leaving conference spaces for the comfort of a hotel suite or coffee shop. Workspring on the Road gives people a thoughtful onsite oasis to step out—and quickly step back in—without missing a beat.

Workspring on the Road empowers attendees to take meaningful breaks and exchange transformative ideas. Highlights of this captive experience include:

1. A gracious onsite host to greet attendees and help them select a workspace
2. Comfortable lounge areas to encourage unexpected conversations and networking
3. Meeting studios—large and small—to facilitate collaborative breakthroughs
4. Individual workstations to provide a productive retreat—a place to take a call or focus on heads-down work
5. Quiet nooks to recharge and refocus without leaving the conference area
